STAND WITH INDIAN TRIBES

Why Californians Should Vote:

✓ YES on Prop 26

✗ NO on Prop 27

Background: For more than 20 years, California voters have entrusted Indian tribes with the right to operate highly regulated casinos on their tribal land, helping promote Indian self-sufficiency. Now, California voters could be presented with two sports wagering propositions on the November 2022 statewide ballot.

The Coalition for Safe, Responsible Gaming, led by California Indian Tribes, has formed to urge a YES vote on Prop 26, which will authorize highly regulated in-person sports wagering at tribal casinos. The coalition is also strongly urging a NO vote on Prop 27—a massive expansion of online gambling that benefits out-of-state gambling corporations while falsely masquerading as a “solution” for homelessness. Here’s why Californians should join our efforts:

✓ YES on Prop 26:

Authorizes Highly Regulated, In-Person Sports Wagering at California Indian Casinos

- » Prop 26 will authorize in-person sports wagering at tribal casinos and 4 licensed horse racetracks and allow Indian tribes to offer craps and roulette at their casinos.
- » Prop 26 would establish safeguards to ensure safe, responsible sports wagering by limiting participation to adults, prohibiting advertising to minors, and requiring individuals to be physically present to place bets, with ID and age verification checks to prevent underage gambling.

Bolsters Tribal Self-Sufficiency and Strengthens Jobs & Economic Growth

- » Tribal casinos serve as the primary economic engine for tribal self-sufficiency in California—providing access to vital services like health care, housing and education for tribal communities.
- » Tribal casinos also provide nearly 150,000 jobs for Californians, generate $26.9 billion for the state economy and contribute $1.2 billion in revenues to state and $489 million to local governments annually.
- » Prop 26 will generate new jobs and create additional economic opportunities that uplift tribal and non-tribal communities alike.
- » Prop 26 will also help limited and non-gaming tribes by increasing funds distributed through the Revenue Sharing Trust Fund.

Provides Tens of Millions Each Year in New Revenues to Support Vital Services

- » According to a report by the nonpartisan Legislative Analyst, Prop 26 will result in “increased state revenues, potentially reaching the tens of millions of dollars annually.”
- » The millions generated by Prop 26 will be available for public schools, mental health programs, public safety, wildfire prevention, affordable housing, senior services and other state priorities.

✗ NO on Prop 27:

Don't Be Fooled – A Massive Expansion of Gambling is NOT a “Solution” to Homelessness

- » Prop 27 would authorize the largest expansion of gambling in the state's history and legalize online sports wagering—turning virtually every phone, tablet, computer and video game console in California into a gambling device.
- » Proponents are cleverly marketing Prop 27 as a “solution” to homelessness, but it's simply bad public policy to fund homelessness and mental health programs by legalizing a massive expansion of online gambling that will lead to further addiction and financial distress.
- » Many experts, including from the UCLA Gambling Studies Program, cite gambling addiction as a significant factor that contributes to becoming homeless and maintaining a cycle of homelessness.
- » California has spent more than $30 billion to address homelessness in the last five years alone, but things have only gotten worse. A recent report by the independent State Auditor said the state's homelessness efforts are “disjointed,” “fragmented” and have “not fulfilled some of its most critical responsibilities.”
- » Look no further than the State Lottery—voters were promised billions in new revenue for public education, but decades later, it has failed to live up to the promise.

Increases Risk of Underage and Problem Gambling

- » The National Council on Problem Gambling found that online gambling is far more addictive than in-person gambling and leads to more problem gambling. In fact, online sports gamblers are five times more likely to develop problem gambling than other types of gamblers.
- » The accelerated speed of play, easy access and instantaneous nature of online and mobile gambling are especially attractive to youth and those prone to impulsive gambling.
- » Prop 27 also lacks critical safeguards to prevent underage gambling—there is no sure-proof way to prevent kids from placing bets using false information or using an adult's credit card.
- » And, Prop 27 would authorize gambling via credit card, putting those who struggle with addiction and problem gambling at risk of easily incurring mass amounts of debt.

Written for the Sole Benefit of Out-of-State, Online Gambling Corporations – Hurting Tribes

- » A broad coalition of California Indian tribes strongly opposes Prop 27 because it undercuts voter-approved tribal exclusivity.
- » Under Prop 27, online gambling corporations would take near total control of the sports wagering market in California— while excluding the vast majority of Indian tribes.
- » Prop 27 would drive business away from Indian casinos—posing a direct threat to Indian self-sufficiency and reducing funds for healthcare, education and housing in tribal communities that endure poverty at twice the rate of California's population.

Shortchanges our State, our Schools and Critical State Priorities

- » Prop 27 would send 90% of profits into the pockets of out-of-state gambling corporations, without creating new jobs or making any real investments in California.
- » Moreover, Prop 27 explicitly sidesteps the General Fund—not a single penny of tax revenues will go to state priorities like public schools, wildfire prevention or emergency response.
